DETAILED ACTION

The response filed 2/2/07 presents remarks and arguments to the office action mailed 12/15/06. Applicants' request for reconsideration of the rejection of claims in the last office action has been considered.

Applicants' arguments, filed, have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objections are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Status of claims

Claims 1-2, 34-37 and 51-62 are examined.

New Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-2, 34-37 and 51-62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

The specification provides no support on how to make and use compounds of formula Ia.

Factors to be considered in determining whether a disclosure would require undue experimentation have been summarized in Ex parte Forman, 230 USPQ 546 (BPAI 1986) and reiterated by the Court of Appeals in In re Wands, 8 USPQ2d 1400 at 1404 (CAFC 1988). The factors to be considered in determining whether undue experimentation is required include: (1) the quantity of experimentation necessary, (2) the amount or direction presented, (3) the presence or absence of working examples, (4) the nature of the invention, (5) the state of the prior art, (6) the relative skill of those in the art, (7) the predictability or unpredictability of the art, and (8) the breadth of the claims.

The Board also stated that although the level of skill in molecular biology is high, the results of experiments in genetic engineering are unpredictable. While all of these factors are considered, a sufficient amount for a prima facie case are discussed below.

The amount of direction or guidance provided and the presence or absence of working examples

No synthetic guidance or even general guidance is given on how to make the compound of formula Ia. Other compounds are described as to those with a carbonyl between the rings and are generally methanones, but nothing about the presently claimed compounds.

The quantity of experimentation necessary

Art Unit: 1614

The specification provides as explained above, guidance to other the making of other compounds, but no guidance is set forth on how to make compounds of formula Ia. For example in formula Ia the reactive groups are present via the heterocyclic ring etc. but that the complete lack of guidance in the instant specification as to how to "make" the compounds of formula (Ia) makes it undue experimentation as there also is no known art recognized method to make them either.

The specification provides inadequate guidance to do otherwise.

State of the prior art and the predictability or lack thereof in the art.

It is noted that the pharmaceutical art is unpredictable, requiring each embodiment to be individually assessed for physiological activity. In re Fisher, 427 F.2d 833, 166 USPQ 18 (CCPA 1970) indicates that the more unpredictable an area is, the more specific enablement is necessary in order to satisfy the statute. Since there is no known art recognized method as to how to make these compounds of formula 1a. The existence of these obstacles establishes that the contemporary knowledge in the art would prevent one of skill in the art from making on its face.
